Do You Rent or Own Your Career?

Be honest, if you wanted to double your income in the next year or make the same amount of money in 1/2 the hours, what would you do different? Zig Ziglar says to find a millionaire, buy him lunch and you will learn something. Rather than a single discussion, this is an opportunity to listen in on a roundtable discussion of six Real Estate and Mortgage high performers. Utilizing their existing skills, experience and contacts to build a 6 or 7 figure residual income rather than be controlled by the Real Estate roller coaster. A frank discussion for any successful business person or professional person.

-Bob Schmidt

This discussion, directed by Bob Schmidt, with professionals highlights the attraction of building a residual income of your own. The panel includes high annual earners along with a National Trainer for a Fortune 500 Company, each with an extremely impressive background. The flow of this conversation-style interview captures a candid snapshot of how, even the best in Corporate America are leveraged to zero and prisoners of their JOB's. In the course of their respective careers they have made fortunes for the companies they represent, yet would walk away with nothing if they were to quit today. I was once told that "If you're handed a recording by a Millionaire...listen to it". Well, here is a recording that showcases several. I think it warrants your time and will stimulate your imagination about what is possible with this opportunity. When you're finished listening, you may find yourself asking if "You Rent or Own Your Career". This is a great intro CD for any business professional...particularly Realtors, Mortgage Professionals and Insurance Agents.
