

Amod Tootla Bio

Amod Tootla, M.D., F.A.C.S., F.I.C.S. was born in South Africa of Indian parentage with 8 siblings in the family. He was extremely poor with no indoor plumbing, no running water and no electricity. He learned to read and write by candle light.

After high school he got his medical education in Dublin, Ireland and obtained his surgical training at the prestigious Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit. He specializes in colon disease with special interest in colon cancer. He introduced laparoscopic robotic surgery for colon diseases 13 years ago and was the first one to carry out internet surgery from Michigan to a hospital in Buenos Aires, Argentina.

Dr Tootla has been doing extensive research all his life and has been published in numerous peer reviewed medical journals, including the New England Journal of Medicine. In the years 2002-03 and 2006 he was voted one of the top surgeons in America by the Consumer Research Council of America, Washington, DC. The University of Cambridge in England honored him in 2003 as one the top 2000 scientists of the 21st. Century.

At present he is researching the effects of xanthones (found in the mangosteen fruit) on different diseases including HIV.

Dr. Tootla is a board certified surgeon. He is licensed to practice in over 20 countries. He has been named one of the top 2000 leading scientists of the 21st Century. Dr. Tootla has also been named one of the top surgeons in America by the Consumer Research Council of America, in Washington D.C.

Dr. Tootla introduced laparoscopic robotic colon surgery 13 years ago. He was also the very first surgeon to carry out internet surgery between his hospital in Michigan, and a hospital in Buenos Aires, Argentina.

Dr. Tootla is a World Renowned Board Certified Cancer Surgeon and leading scientist.

Named one of the top Surgeons in the United States by the Consumer Research Council of America in Washington DC for the last five years.

Cambridge University nominated him one of the top 2000 scientists in the world for the 21st century.

Dr. Tootla is licensed to practice in 20 different countries and has the distinction of having introduced robotic surgery in the United States.

He is a pioneer of laparoscopic colon surgery and has published numerous papers in the most prestigious medical journals in the world, including the New England Journal of Medicine.

Dr. Tootla was the first surgeon to do surgery over the Internet – from Michigan to Buenos Aires in Argentina as reported on the front pages of the Wall Street Journal.

Recently, he was the first surgeon to use radio frequency ablation for primary and metastatic liver cancer.

Dr. Tootla has used Mangosteen Juice with well in excess of 1000 of his patients to date.

He is a Fellow of the Royal Society of Health

He is a Fellow of the International College of Colon and Rectal Surgeons

He is a Fellow of the American Society of Abdominal Surgeons

He is a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons

He is a Fellow of the International College of Surgeons

He is named in the "who's who" in the American and Global Registry